In the mid-2000s, a strategic review in our flourishing salads business highlighted the increasing demand for UK-grown salad crops on the British retail shelves. Viewed alongside a volatile import market, increased worldwide marketing opportunities for growers and the need to produce these crops in more environmentally-sustainable units, it became clear that there was a huge opportunity for Fresca if we could increase UK production.

By joining together with three product-growing specialist partners, we created a joint venture business with an ambitious plan to grow tomatoes, peppers and cucumbers on a brand new site in Kent. Thanet Earth manages year-round programmes for UK retail customers, with imported volumes working alongside the site's own UK production to maintain a premium quality offer throughout the year. A state-of-the-art packing factory ensures that the products move through the supply chain as swiftly as possible.

Thanet Earth continues to lead the UK protected salads industry, winning awards for sustainability and innovation, and continuing its expansion to the planned seven greenhouses on site.

Investing in the future of fruit production is an important part of our Fresca strategy for the long term. Core product areas such as grapes benefit enormously from innovation and new variety developments.

Fresca Group is a partner in the table grape breeding programme of the Agricultural Research Organization, Volcani Centre, in Israel. Together with an international team we have been working in collaboration to help fund and direct the new variety work of the renowned Dr Avi Perl. Grape Evolution Ltd was established in 2017; this business has the European and North African commercial rights to the new varieties from this breeding programme and to some existing grape varieties already released by ARO and in commercial production. Among the existing commercial varieties are Prime, Starlight and Mystery.

Grape Evolution is now actively managing the current production varieties and is working with nurseries and growers to launch the very exciting new grape varieties from the Volcani programme. In line with Fresca's wish for a more sustainable system of food production, the emphasis of the breeding programme is low input varieties which also extend a grower's season. Exceptionally good-eating early and late fruit are signatures of the Volcani work.

Colombian avocado exports are changing the face of avocado supply in the UK. Colombia's leading avocado grower, Cartama, has developed a phenomenal 11-month harvest period. This means that the typically-difficult supply periods for the UK (the shoulders of the seasons for traditional source countries) can be smoothed out.

By creating a joint venture business together with Cartama, a much improved, consistent quality offer is now available for the UK. It's complemented by efficient shipping and by expert product handling and ripening at The Fresh Produce Centre in Paddock Wood, Kent.

Cartama UK is responsible for marketing the Colombian avocados in the UK and Europe. The company is set for fast growth in line with the maturation of the many thousands of new trees planted by Cartama as part of a major expansion programme.

In a vertical integration investment together with Fresca Group, Cartama UK is a partner in Fresquita Farms. The partners farm 422 hectares of avocado production in Colombia.

Driving forward exciting new varieties of stone fruit is a really important part of maintaining and growing market share. Customers need new and exciting options to keep the category moving forwards, with higher brix levels and better flavour, colour and product eating quality.

Zaiger is one of the world's leading breeders of new stone fruit varieties, with their work on hybrid plums giving rise to market-leading varieties like Flavor King® and Flavor Fall plums. We see a very strong future for their new releases of hybrid plum varieties which arise from a natural, cross-pollination process between selected varieties of plum and apricot.

Together with RSA stone fruit grower Fruits Unlimited, Fresca has formed a joint venture business – Custom Plum Company (CPC). This business markets these incredible new Zaiger interspecific plum varieties to growers in South Africa, aiming for these much improved variety options to become the clear varieties of choice for growers to replace their older, less productive orchard plantings.

With leading UK retailers already working with CPC partner Fresca, there's a ready-made, premium marketplace for the harvest with appreciative British consumers.
